"The Fire Patrol," a sensational melodram which has been seen in Brooklyn before, was presented to a good-sized audience last night at holmes's star Theatre. It was presented by a good company, and many of the scenes provoked much enthusiasm.

"Eight Bells," announced as a "musical Theatre some time ago with much success, and the probability is that it will duplicate tals success at the Park. "Eight Bells" is sented through the country for many sea-sons, with Fred Bryton as the hero. Mr. Bryton was in the cast last night, and this was well for "Forgiven." The play is a good one of its kind—the sentimental, heroic kind. It is permeated by a gentle pathos that appeals to all but the absolutely jaded theatre-goers. The cast, which was an acceptable one, included Ralph Delmore.

one, included Raiph Delmore.

"Harlem Opera-House last the handsome Harlem Opera-House last night, coming from the Park Theatre, where it has been playing for the last four weeks. It was reviewed at some length in these columns during the first week of its New York run, and there is no hing to add to what was then said. The farce-comedy still announces the potent names of Reed and Collier, and it still enlists the services of a number of pretty girls.

COLUMBUS THEATRE.

COLUMBUS THEATRE.

The play at the Columbus Theatre, Harlem, last night was "My Jack," a melodramatic effort from the pen of Benjamin Landeck. The star of the piece is Waiter Sanford, and the company is a good one—quite good enough for a melodrama that relies a great deal upon its "Intense" shipwreck scene. This, it must be said, was very realistically put upon the stage. "My Jack" will undoubtedly have a good week of it at the Columbus.

WINDSOR THEATRE. MINDSOR THEATRE.

L. R. Shewell's play, "The Stepdaughter," was the attraction at the Windsor Theatre last night, with Miss Annie Ward Tiffany as the muscular heroine, Peggy Logan. In the principal scene of the play the stepdaughter is locked up in a tower-room by the naughty stepmother. She is rescued from a terrible fate by Peggy, who appears at an opportune moment. In another scene Peggy has an encounter with a shricking French maid. Take it all in all, there is plenty of sensationalism in "The Stepdaughter."

GRAND OFERA-HOUSE.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE. GRAND OFERA-HOUSE.

Hallen and Hart appeared at the Grand Opera-House last night. Guess what the play was? "Later On" Why, of course. These comedians are anything but inconstant. They have shown a devotion to "Later On" that is little less than astonishing. Their work is always acceptable, and their songs and dances went as well as ever. John Mc. Wade, a baritone; Ada Somers and Mollic Fuller were in the cast. A very agreeable specialty was called "The Sweet Robin Gavotte."

[From Life.]

Mrs. Fastpace—I'm really ashamed of you, Jack. The Rev. Mr. Proser asked you to-day you admitted you had not read one of them. Mr. Fastpace—Yes, and if you had not read one of them. Mr. Fastpace—How? Mrs. Fastpace—How? Mrs

H. R. JACOBS'. A Western drama entitled "Devil's Mine" began a week's engagement at H. R. Jacobs' Theatre last night. It called for the services of a number of specialty people and some picturesque scenery. The story is somewnat conventional, but it is well told and interesting. The audience seemed to appreciate the play very thoroughly A mountant torrent of real chilly water caught the house, and the overland stage coach, with its real horses, was hardly less successful. Verly, this is the day for "effects."

Metropolitan Board Warns the Managers of Tournaments.

The Special Four-Round Bouts Are a Violation of the Rules.

A step in the direction of reform in the boxng branch of amateur athletics was taken last night at the meeting of the Board of Managers of the Metropolitan Association It came through the passage of a resolution warning the managers of amateur boxing tournaments not to infringe upon the rules of the Union by holding special four-round minutes each in preliminary bouts, and two rounds of three minutes and one of four minutes in final bouts. Another round of two minutes can be ordered by the referee in case the judges fail to pick a winner.

The four-round contests are the principal features of most of the boxing exhibitions. The Board has also ordered that a watchful eye be kept on tournaments in the future, and by so doing to detect the awarding of cash premiums. The Beard will governed to a great extent in their future action by the result of the com-League some days ago, the mangers will know the reason why.

"What the Association would like to do,' said official Handicapper E. C. Carfer, "is to catch one of these clubs giving me key, or a so-called amateur receiving it, and an example would be made that would prove sufficient for some time to come. The evidence must be conclusive or very little can be done, however."

Now that the Plimmer-Kelly fight is really off considerable regret is manifested because it was expected that it would be one of the hottest contests witnessed in this vicinity in some time. The betting on the result has been free. "Re" Ingersell, one of Plimmer's backers, in referring to the affair, said:

"I like Tommy Kelly because I think he is a great fighter and a champton. I wish met one hore Plimmer. Plimmer is exceedingly ciever and I have no doubt but that he would have floished a winner. He came all the way from England to meet Kelly and I am sorry the arrangements have been broken off. Plimmer is anxious to get back to England, where his mother is somewhat dependent upon his efforts."
